

METAL FORMS CORPORATION
SINCE 1909

EMPLOYEE PROFILE

TRAMAINE TERRELL Production

If you could choose just one word to describe Tramaine Terrell, it would be COMMITMENT. “Commitment” to learn and master every operation in the shop that propelled his rise to a management position at MFC. “Commitment” to his wife, Argelique, which has resulted in a 16-year marriage with a family of 4 children. “Commitment” to rebuild and regroup after a fire destroyed his home and possessions.

Another commitment led Tramaine to MFC. After high school, Tramaine was introduced to welding at one of his first jobs and he immediately knew he wanted to master this skill. His devotion to improving his welding talents landed him a part-time job at MFC. It was not long before Tramaine’s welding prowess earned him a full-time position.

Tramaine’s reliable job performance in welding resulted in a transfer to the Speed Screed® department where he learned a completely new product and a new set of skills. Tramaine’s learning curve at MFC didn’t stop at welding or the screed area as he quickly learned every operation in the shop. This, in turn, led to a plant management position alongside Kevin Ellner and Ruben Velez.

Away from the job and at his home, you might envision Tramaine as an English Professor. In his own words, Tramaine’s home “looks like a library” with shelves stuffed with books from floor to ceiling. His reading preference is definitely science fiction with his favorite being the “Dark Tower” series by Stephen King.

Along with reading, Tramaine is a quite man who cherishes his family life with Angelique and their 4 children.

Osyus (13), Sauran (12), Riannon (10) and Arcane (8).